

0) Meeting again :-)

Can you think of an experience from your summer that somebody else in the group would probably also enjoy?

Can you think of an experience from your summer holiday that you enjoyed, but somebody else in the group might not enjoy?

Did you get to do anything unexpected during the summer?

Is there anything that you regret not doing?

What was the hottest and the lowest temperature that you experienced during the summer?

What do all of these verbs have in common? flood baptize humidify submerge scald ooze babble

What do these nouns have in common? spring brook stream loch estuary gulf bay tributary

2) HOMEWORK

What would be a meaningful homework assignment, in your opinion?

Should it revise some vocabulary from this lesson?

Should it involve some creativity? (Making a short video, recording a voice message, writing a short text...)

Should it involve inquiry? (=Should you be expected to find out more about a topic that we've come across in the lesson? Should you find some extra information on the internet and present it to the others in a way that they might actually enjoy?)

Should it take advantage of our WA group? (It might be your homework for example to send an answer to a challenge to the WA group rather than share it in the next lesson.)

Should it include some formal B2 practice? (Cambridge First for Schools Sample tests)
